

On screen editing with the B/W Adjustment Layer

Hint: Use the eyedropper tool to set the sample size to at least 5 x 5 average.

1. Open photo in photoshop.
2. Make a B/W adjustment layer. (Not adjustment but adjustment layer)
3. Click OK without any adjustments.
4. Set the Blending mode for that layer to luminosity.
5. Re click the icon on the B/W adjustment layer to reopen it.
6. Drag the cursor on the area of the photo where you want to change the luminosity.

Where ever you place the cursor will automatically pick up the correct color to change the luminosity (brightness) of that color.
